The Lincoln Museum

Fort Wayne, Indiana

America was the "Great Experiment," and Abraham Lincoln was one of the Presidents who were instrumental in shaping the experiment's future. In this award-winning museum devoted to telling his life story, visitors can write a letter to president Lincoln, and heft a soldier's pack or an officer's sword, for a taste of military life in the Civil War. An interactive computer program allows visitors to decorate the White House, or to become a Civil War general — bringing this historic period vividly and immediately to life.
